FEBRUARY 2026

For the thirteenth consecutive year, we present art without identifying the artist and absent of any descriptive detail. These paintings stand without the bias afforded by reputation. Their appeal will be a matter of passion not persuasion.

If any detracting issue you discover after all the information is presented does not dissuade your enthusiasm, that painting has found its way to your heart. We have all been told to follow our hearts. There is no better reason to buy a painting.
